About Reading; Continued. There is a break in the order where, after the prayer for the President, certain prayers shall be omitted when the Litany is said, and may be omitted when the Holy Communion is immediately to follow. So far as it relates to the Holy Communion it is a new usage, and neither clergy nor people seem fully to understand it. When we stop at that point to begin the Litany, the custom is universal not to put in the grace of our Lord, but either with or without a hymn, to pass at once to the first sentence of the Litany. But I find that when, instead of the Litany, the Order for Holy Communion is then to be taken up, most clergymen mark the pause by saying, The grace of our Lord, etc. It is wrong. That is one of the prayers which the rubric directs us there to omit. And there is no reason why the same method should not be followed both for Litany and Holy Communion. If at first it seems awkward because your people are not expecting it, by the third or fourth time they will have learned it. And do not put in there your own Amen. The printing plainly shows that it is for the people alone. A little more about the Amen. There is a rule to govern its use. When it is printed in the same type with the...
